

Tut House Physical Education Overview

Physical Education is a requirement for all students in the Tutorial House. UNIS recognizes that physical activity can take place in many different forms and as such, offers T2 students three different ways to achieve a pass grade in physical education:

1. Attend and participate fully in the school Physical Education program;
2. Enroll, attend and participate fully on a school athletic team;
3. Request and receive an alternative athletic credit for participation in a suitable activity outside of school.

For students wishing to partake in the school PE program, they will have a scheduled lesson on their timetable, which they must attend every week. It is a requirement that students participate in 80% of lessons in order to achieve a pass grade, unless they are medically excused or absent from school. For students who are members of a school athletic team or are high level performers in athletic or dance programs outside of school, they can achieve a pass grade for the season, contingent upon satisfactory participation in practices/rehearsals and games/competitions, a report by their supervisor/coach and an attendance rate of 80%.

The physical education curriculum and athletic seasons are roughly aligned; there are four PE units throughout the academic year and there are three athletic seasons (Fall, Winter and Spring). Each athletic season equates to one PE unit, except for the winter season, which equates to two units.
