Leadership

This program is a unique leadership course that gives students the skills they need to succeed in life. The program has STEM projects, theatre games, fun physical activities, role playing games and more.

All the activity-based syllabus centered around character traits most sought and admired in leaders:

- |               |                  |                           |
|---------------|------------------|---------------------------|
| initiative,   | persuasiveness,  | generosity,               |
| honesty,      | resourcefulness, | punctuality,              |
| self-control, | diligence,       | courage,                  |
| adaptability, | tolerance,       | reliability,              |
| empathy,      | determination    | endurance and creativity. |

Team Building Activities - Art & Design

This course encourages the students express themselves creatively, think critically, improve their focus, work together, develop social-emotional and interpersonal skills. Art and design programs and team building activities help students develop the essential leadership skills needed to succeed in our rapidly accelerating interdependent society.

Arts & Crafts:

This exciting activity engages the students in developing their creativity! Experts show that the development of fine and gross motor skills are essential in childhood, so we offer hands-on activities that allow students to color, cut, paste, paint, build and create.

Week #1 & Week # 2 SPRING CAMP

M1-M4 students

Model UN & Model Congress

Model UN—Crisis Committee Security Council

Week #1: March 27 to 31st

Model United Nations is a simulation of the United Nations and a fun and exciting way to learn about countries, people, perspectives, and events worldwide. Students roleplay as delegates from a country of their choice and use debate and negotiation to enlist the support of other representatives for solutions to crises and problems facing the world. Model UN teaches students leadership skills like communication, conflict resolution, negotiation, and delegation. We emphasize social and emotional empathy, active listening, and negotiation based on mutual benefit and interests.

Model Congress - Executive Power

Week #2: April 3 to April 7th

In Model Congress Executive Power, students will learn about all branches of government and the legislative process. However, students will simulate the Executive office and how the Executive Cabinet handled significant events in U.S. history. Students will learn the powers and limits of the Executive, the essential leadership skills needed for diplomacy, and the responsibilities granted to the Executive office.

Team Building Activities - Art & Design

This course encourages the students express themselves creatively, think critically, improve their focus, work together, develop social-emotional and interpersonal skills. Art and design programs and team building activities help students develop the essential leadership skills needed to succeed in our rapidly accelerating interdependent society.

Program subject to enrollment.

Please register as soon as possible

Confirmation will be sent March 15th
